Sixteen 5" charm squares (different or same fabric) of darks

Sixteen 5" charm squares (different or same fabric) of light

Seven 5" charm squares accent color fabric

19" x full width of yardage (40"+) of sashing fabric

Half yard of border fabric

Cut three 5" charm squares of accent fabric into twelve 2 ½" x 2 ½" squares. Put aside nine.

Cut two strips 6 ½" by full width of sashing fabric and two strips 2 ½" wide.

Cut forty 6 ½" by 2 ½" rectangles from strips.

Cut four strips 3 ½" by full width of fabric from border fabric

Sew four nine-patch blocks with the darks in the corner and the accent color in the center of each block. The lights are in between the darks. Measure $2\frac{1}{4}$ " from the seam edge and cut the nine-patch block in half exactly both ways. Measuring from the smaller accent color on the lower left, trim your block on the right and top to $6\frac{1}{2}$ " square. (You are trimming the sides with the charm square in the corner.)

Sew a $2\frac{1}{2}$ " x $6\frac{1}{2}$ " sashing strip to the bottom of the block with the accent color on the lower left. Sew a $2\frac{1}{2}$ " x $2\frac{1}{2}$ " square of accent fabric to a $2\frac{1}{2}$ " x $6\frac{1}{2}$ " sashing strip. You need a total of 24. Sew to block with accent colors touching corners. Sew four sashing units together to make the sashing strip. You need two. Sew one accent color square to the end of one strip. Sew the blocks together in rows of four with the sashing in the same orientation. Sew on the separate sashing strips. Measure through the center of the quilt for your border measurement. Sew on sides first and then measure for the top and bottom borders. Sew on the borders.
