

Wildflowers with Sylvia Pippen – June 19, 2015
Luther Burbank Art and Garden Center, 2050 Yulupa, 8:30 set-up, 9:00 class

Supply list:

- 15" x 15" square or 1/2 yd dark indigo or other dark solid or mottled fabric for background. Avoid batiks as it is hard to pull sashiko thread through it.
- For your flowers: Batiks and prints; refer to your pattern cover.
- Transfer supplies
 - White transfer paper. Look for white graphite paper: Lowell Cornell transfer paper can be found in art supply stores. I'll have enough for everyone if you can't find it.
 - Ball point pen, mechanical pencil or stylus
 - Masking or scotch tape

Sashiko Supplies

- Short assorted sashiko needles or assorted embroidery needles.
- White or Green sashiko thread or #5 perle cotton
- Thread conditioner: Thread Heaven is my favorite

Appliqué supplies

- Appliqué needles
- Appliqué pins
- #100 YLI silk or polyester thread in a neutral color or your favorite matching appliqué thread
- Temporary fabric glue such as Sewline starch based glue pen

Mylar Method Supplies

- Hobbico Craft iron or Clover mini iron I will have 2 irons to share
If you bring a craft or mini iron, bring a china plate or heat proof iron holder for your iron. Many holders that come with the craft irons are not adequate.
- Small very hard ironing board. You can make one out of a 6"x6" piece of plywood and cover it with Kevlar silver ironing board material. I will have boards to share too.
- Spray starch: Mary Ellen's or a fabric folding pen
- Freezer paper

Other supplies

- Fine line indelible marking pen
- Your very best and sharpest small pointed paper and cloth scissors
- White and silver chalk pencils

I will have available at the workshop:

- Sashiko needles and thread
- transfer paper
- sewline glue pens
- extra wildflower patterns
- #100 Invisifil polyester thread
- appliqué needles

Note from Phyllis and Rhonda:

There are 9 wildflower patterns from which you may choose. These patterns will be available at the program, but Phyllis will also be placing a couple of advance orders from her website, as you may want your pattern early, to choose fabric. The patterns are on sale for $5 each. She also has many other patterns, some discounted to $2.50 each, and others at regular price. You may view them at <http://sylvia-pippen.com/patterns/>
